What is Long-Term Disability insurance?

Long-term disability (LTD) insurance helps replace a portion of your income for an extended period of time.

Eligibility Requirements

How is “Disability” defined under the Plan?

Generally, you are considered disabled and eligible for long-term benefits if, due to sickness, pregnancy or accidental injury, you are receiving appropriate care and treatment and complying with the requirements of the treatment and you are unable to earn more than 80% of your predisability earnings at your own occupation for any employer in your local economy.

Following the Own Occupation period, you are considered disabled if, due to sickness, pregnancy or accidental injury, you are receiving appropriate care and treatment and complying with the requirements of treatment and you are unable to earn 80% of your predisability earnings at any gainful occupation for which you are reasonably qualified taking into account your training, education and experience.

For a complete description of this and other requirements that must be met, refer to the Certificate of Insurance/Summary Plan Description provided by your employer or contact your MetLife benefits administrator with any questions.

What is the benefit amount?

The long-term disability benefit replaces a portion of your predisability monthly earnings, less other income you may receive from other sources¹ during the same disability (e.g., Social Security, Workers' Compensation, vacation pay etc.). The benefit amount is 60% of your predisability monthly earnings.

What is the maximum monthly benefit?

The amount of the long-term disability benefit may not exceed the maximum monthly benefit established under the plan, regardless of your annual salary amount. The maximum under this plan is $6,000.00.

When do benefits begin and how long do they continue?

Benefits begin after the end of the elimination period. The elimination period begins on the day you become disabled and is the length of time you must wait while being disabled before you are eligible to receive a benefit. Your elimination period for long-term disability is 90 days or until the end of the STD maximum benefit period.

Your plan's maximum benefit period and any specific limitations are described in the Certificate of Insurance/Summary Plan Description provided by your employer.
